Please NOTE: Many of these candidates are looking for any level role and are willing and able to learn. The listed skills are just a general guide and by no means exhaustive nor are a full representation of their capabilities. The candidates may seem over/or under-qualified on paper at a first glance, but we do still encourage you to give them a chance and have a chat if you have any roles that a person with low English proficiency will be suitable for. These individuals need a place to start, they are humble and would appreciate an opportunity to be given a chance, so that they can show you just how great and hardworking they can be! Thank you!
